

First Meeting Of Water Group Slated Tuesday

BOISE, March 7 (AP)—California's threat to Idaho water was described today as the impetus that could bring about the draft of a state water development program talked about for years. Gov. Robert E. Smylie will outline proposals at the first meeting Tuesday of a statewide committee he set up to study Idaho's water needs. He said he will tell the group that the California suggestion to divert water from Idaho's Snake river, "whether it is a present or future threat, has created a climate of opinion in Idaho which makes progress possible."

Walker Again Raps Jordan Water Stand

Idaho's Republican Sen. Len B. Jordan was accused Saturday by Lloyd J. Walker, Idaho Democratic central committee chairman, of supporting Idaho water development only when Idaho development doesn't object. The accusation came in a statement released by Walker in Twin Falls, which said:

"The proposal for an Idaho water committee has already resulted in one benefit, and that is the opening of public debate on Idaho water development. Idaho State Chairman McMurtry has entered the race to defend Sen. Len B. Jordan's record on water development. Like all apologists, however, he failed to defend the entire record."

"No one has ever accused Senator Jordan of voting against all water projects, only the crucial ones. The first vote cast by the senator was against the Northwest power preference bill. This bill provided an absolute priority to Idaho for the use of the electricity produced by our water in the Bonneville system. At the Northwest and all of Idaho supported this bill except the all-powerful Idaho Power company. So, Jordan voted no and if he has his way California could get our power, and this could be as big a loss as water in liquid form."

Then came the Burns Creek date. This project had the unanimous support of the Republican governor of Idaho, the Republican party, and has always been supported by Senator DeWahl.

All Democrats, of course, supported this bill. It had two opponents. See WALKER, Page 2, Col. 1

Mother From Pocatello Wins Title

BOISE, March 7 (AP)—A 41-year-old Pocatello mother of two named Mrs. Idaho of 1964 today at the second annual Mrs. Idaho pageant in Boise.

Mrs. Adeline Lieberg succeeds Mrs. John Evans, also Pocatello, as Idaho's "ideal homemaker" and will represent the Gem state in the America contest at St. Petersburg, Fla., April 2-12. The attractive blue-eyed brunette was chosen from a field of 40 contestants following a day long round of judging in cooking, sewing, budgeting and menu and party planning.

In addition to the homemaking skills competition, the contestants were judged on appearance, personality and ability to cope with hypothetical family problems posed by the judges.

Runners-up were Mrs. Clifton Johnson, 36, Boise, the mother of five, and Mrs. Calvin J. McBride, Idaho Falls, a 33-year-old mother of four.

The new Mrs. Idaho listed her banquet climaxing the day's activities.

Mrs. Lieberg received her crown from Mrs. Evans at a husband, Odd E. Lieberg, and her two children, 20-year-old Gerald, a sophomore at Yale University, and 16-year-old Carolyn Sue, as her chief interests. In addition to her family responsibilities, Mrs. Lieberg said the time to devote to several community activities including Boy and Girl Scouts, the heart fund, Job's Daughters, church organizations and the United Fund. She listed reading, hiking, camping and golf as her principal hobbies.

Other contestants were: Mrs. Grant Brues, Bancroft; Mrs. Ben R. Eldredge, Twin Falls; Mrs. William Rankin, Caldwell; Mrs. Keith Stoddard, Burley; Mrs. Donald Taylor, Nampa; and Mrs. Sam Arris and Mrs. Jerry Moser, both, Boise.

Phone Booth Is Wanted in Space

HOUSTON, Tex., March 7 (AP)—Those outside telephone booths in the darkest places. The manned spacecraft center has selected for a telephone extension to be fitted on the outside of the Gemini spacecraft so the rescue team can plug in and talk to the astronauts inside.

The specifications called for the phone to be salt waterproof, light weight and of a speaker-microphone type.

SEARCHERS FOUND TWO BOYS buried under snow slide, see arrow, in sledding tragedy at Pocatello Saturday. Some 200 volunteers responded to dig in the slide after two younger boys escaped and called for help. Kelly Kruse, 10, and Greg MacPherson, son, 10, both died as a result of the mishap. The MacPherson boy was alive when he was dug out of the snow and was given artificial respiration, but died later in the hospital. (Times-News photo)

Two Boys Die in Snowslide In Hills West of Pocatello

POCATELLO, March 7 (AP)—"I looked back and saw the snow coming down the hill. It went right on top of them," a boy told his mother today. More than two hours later, a volunteer force of some 200 men and women uncovered two boys in a gully in the hills west of here. Both died. Victims of the sledding tragedy were Kelly Kruse, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Dale Kruse, 300 Valleyview drive, and Greg MacPherson, also 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry MacPherson, 37 Pounce drive.

The boys went out this morning to play in the area above their homes. They were sliding down a coasting run in the gully, where most of the winter's snow remains in deep drifts. Two of Kelly's brothers, Kevin, 9, and Kip, 5, were with the pair.

"Kip and I were sliding down the hill on a sled," said Kevin. "Greg and Kelly were sliding behind us. I looked back and saw the snow coming down the hill. It went right on top of them."

Kevin took Kip to their home and told his mother what had happened. More than 200 men and women joined in the rescue effort. The boys were found under about five feet of snow. Kelly was dead.

Greg was placed on a cot, and Dr. Robert E. Rush began to apply artificial respiration, with the assistance of a fireman. "He's alive!" cried one of the men.

Greg began to breathe on his own. He was taken to Bannock Memorial hospital, but died three hours later.

The sympathy of a grieving nation and friends around the world kept company with the royal family in a vigil near the departed monarch.

Monday the body will be taken to the Metropolis, the Greek Orthodox cathedral of Athens, to lie in state for three days before burial Thursday.

Among the first foreign chiefs of state to arrive to attend the funeral was King Frederik IX of Denmark, whose daughter, Anne-Marie, 17, is the fiancée of King Constantine, 23. Others included King Baudouin of Belgium, King Olav V of Norway and King Gustaf VI Adolf of Sweden.

President Johnson announced in Washington that the first lady and former President Harry S. Truman would represent the United States.

A black-curtained hearse bore King Paul in death on his last journey into the city he so loved in life.

Accompanying the hearse on the 16-mile route from the Tatoi palace was an eight-car motorcade bearing members of the family and Danish Princess Anne-Marie. There were reports, without confirmation, that Constantine and Anne-Marie may marry this year, advancing a wedding they originally planned for January, 1965.

The route of the cortege was lined with people, many openly sorrowing at the passage of the man who died at 62 Friday of complications following an operation for stomach ulcers. Paul had been in the 17th year of his reign.

The further we go over the goal the more sound the investment becomes," explained Voy Hudson, executive committee member, "and the enterprise could then begin business without the burden of being under-financed."

An election will be held by all those who subscribed to the campaign as soon after the first report meetings will be held on Monday night.

Paul Bull, campaign chairman, said it's going a long way over the top because of the unselfish work and support of many, many people.

The campaign goal is $500,000, with more than 1,700 subscribers from Twin Falls and surrounding communities expected to participate.

The election will be for the purpose of choosing a 15-member board of directors. Will added, "and one vote for each $100 subscriber will be the basis for voting."

The Magic Valley Audatorium campaign aims to top goal by big margin.

The next 24 hours will tell the story, predicted Henry Willis, chairman, "and then we will know how far over the goal we've gone."

Monday at 6 p.m. will mark the end of the campaign. The final reports from the 230 volunteer salesmen will be called.

"Nineteen days and 13 daily report meetings will have passed on Monday night," said Paul Bull, campaign chairman, "and it's going a long way over the top because of the unselfish work and support of many, many people."

The campaign goal is $500,000, with more than 1,700 subscribers from Twin Falls and surrounding communities expected to participate.

8 Killed In Cyprus Fighting

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 7 (AP)—Eight persons were reported killed in the worst Cyprus fighting in nearly a month, almost simultaneously with the release of 49 Turkish Cypriot hostages by their Greek captors. The government announced Sunday seven of those killed were Greek Cypriots. The British army reported one Turk killed. The fighting took place Saturday at Ktima, near the city of Paphos, about 60 miles from Nicosia where the Turks were freed. British troops also came under fire and one British soldier was among some 31 persons reported wounded.

The British, patrolling the island that was once their colony in an attempt to keep the warring communal factions from each other's throat, established a cease-fire line at Ktima at dusk. But snipers continued sporadic shooting.

In Nicosia, joy, despair, anger and griefs hurried against the Greek-dominated Cyprus government of President Archbishop Makarios greeted the return of the 49 Turk hostages.

The Ktima fighting started with someone firing from a mosque minaret into a crowded market place. Both sides claimed the other side fired bazookas from the minaret.

The British army said it thought most of the 21 wounded and the fatalities occurred when two "Turkish Cypriots" began firing from the minaret. The British said the dead included a 15-year-old girl and 50-year-old woman on the Greek side and a 60-year-old Turkish man.

The verdict totally upset a defense contention that the abduction was a publicity stunt.

A third defendant, who did not take part in the actual abduction, but who made the telephone ransom demands of $240,000 on Frank Sinatra, Jr., was cleared of the kidnapping charge but convicted on five other counts of the six-count indictment.

Barry Keenan, 23, boss in the Dec. 8 grab of young Sinatra, and Joseph Amisler, his reluctant but active henchman, drew the maximum sentences in federal prison.

The judge, under the law, also could have levied $35,000 in fines on the pair but didn't.

Keenan and Amisler, also 23, were convicted by a federal court jury after only six hours and 53 minutes of deliberation. They were found guilty on all six counts of the indictment.

John Truitt, 42, a husky house painter who also pictured himself as a reluctant participant, will not be sentenced for some weeks. Gladys Towles Root, his flamboyantly dressed counsel, asked for a presentence report which will take some time to prepare.

The Lenten Story

BY WOODIE ISHMAEL

THE KISS OF DEATH

Judas had no trouble finding Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemani. He knew the place well, for the disciples often met there. With him were a great crowd, carrying swords, clubs, lanterns and torches. "Whomever I kiss, that is He. Lay hold of Him," he said to the chief priests. And he went straight up to Jesus and said, "Hail, Rabbi!" and kissed Him. But Jesus said to him, "Judas, dost thou betray the Son of Man with a kiss?" (Luke XXII:48)

And to the arresting party, He said: "As against a robber have you come out, with swords and clubs. When I was daily with you in the temple, you did not stretch forth your hands against Me. But this is your hour, and the power of darkness."

Lengthening of Statehouse Wings Is Being Considered

BOISE, March 7 (AP)—Lengthening the building by a total of 100 feet to a total length of 325 feet and the two-block site of about 680 feet long. That leaves about 350 feet of land, which now is in grass, shrubbery and flower beds.

The statehouse has four floors, but by using modern construction methods — and air conditioning — additions of six stories might be possible.

To attach a six-story addition would require a lobby-type connection. But it is believed this could be worked out with a minimum of waste space and would provide convenient access to both the new and old portions of the building.

Six-story addition could provide as much as 60,000 square feet of space.

At present the state rents about 40,000 square feet of office space in privately owned buildings in Boise.

Jerome St. Benedict's Hospital Guild Makes Plans For Community-Wide Cake Sale Slated for March 17

By VALORIE CHURCHMAN

JEROME, March 7—Cakes! Cakes! Cakes! In a community-wide effort to purchase a needed piece of equipment for St. Benedict's hospital, Jerome will be flooded with cakes March 17.

St. Benedict's Hospital guild, which is sparkplugging the sale, has designated five locations where cakes will be sold whole and three places where it will be sold by the piece.

If the sale is successful and they raise the anticipated $1,500, it will be the largest cake sale ever held in Idaho.

Not only are the women of the valley involved in baking cakes, but a special contest is being held for the men. Cakes baked by the men will be judged and then served to the public by the piece. Three prizes will be given for the best cake, the most original and the best decorated.

The Jerome Rotary club meets each Tuesday, and members are joining in the fun. William Last has challenged Al Hall to a cake baking contest.

When the challenge was issued and accepted at a recent meeting, another Rotarian, Ted Bruckner, stood and said he didn't know who they were going to use for judges, but he would like to state right now that he would not be available as "I am already having stomach trouble."

The cakes involved in the Rotary challenge probably will be judged at their meeting. All of the cakes baked by the men will be judged by a trio of judges that morning.

The judges are Ivan Stone, Jerome architect; Mrs. Lee Poltz and Mrs. Rose Cobb.

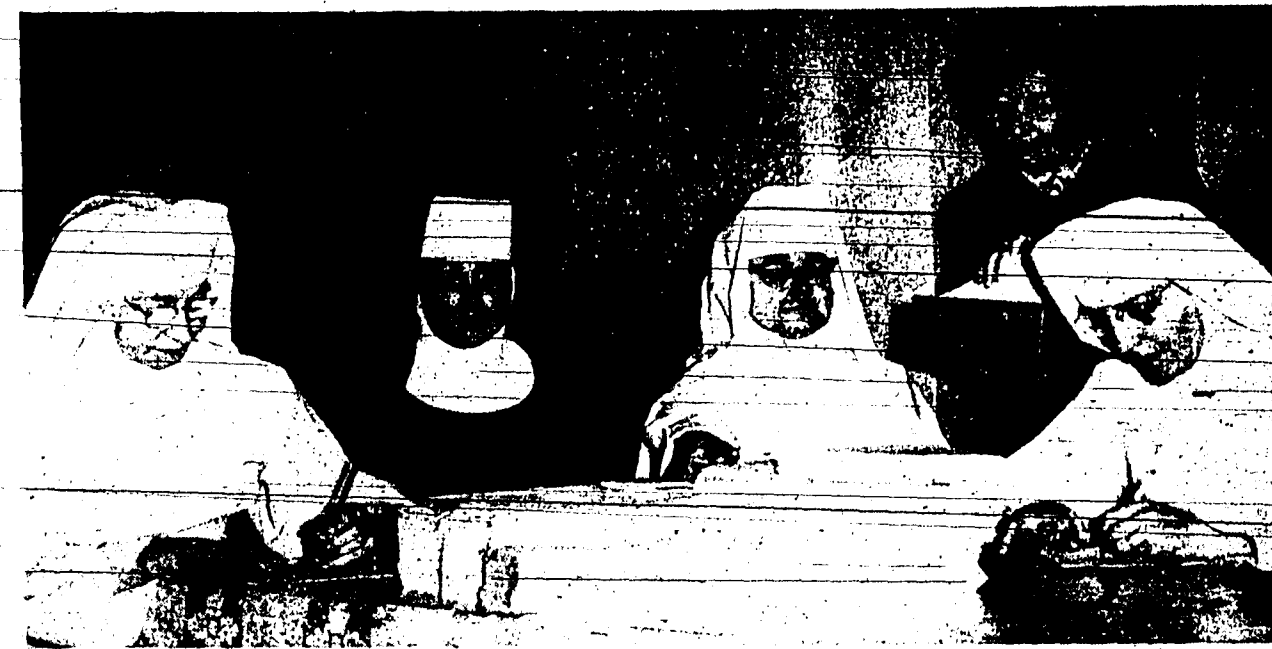

The cakes will be identified only by a number when they are judged, so no contestant can claim partiality.

CHARLES L'HERISSON puts the finishing touches on his entry in the men's division of the St. Patrick's day cake sale. His daughter, Tracy, is giving some helpful hints. The cakes will be judged the morning of March 17 at Wood cafe. Cakes should be entered by 9:30 a.m. and judging will begin at 10 a.m. Prizes will be given for the best over all cake, the best decorated cake and the most original cake. (Times-News photo)

SISTER MARY ELEANOR, hospital laboratory technician, accepts a new role and becomes an auctioneer March 17. Sister Eleanor will auction off cakes at the Jerome Rotary club meeting for their program that day. The money from the community-wide cake sale will go toward the purchase of an explosion-proof motor for surgery, costing approximately $1,500. The new unit would allow greater freedom in the choice of anesthetics, as well as many other advantages. (Times-News photo)

SISTERS AT ST. BENEDICT'S HOSPITAL spent their recreational hours during February addressing 2,500 invitations to bake a cake. The letters were sent to residents of Magic Valley, not including Jerome, who have been patients in the Jerome St. Benedict's hospital sometime during the last five years. The invitations ask recipients to bake a cake, sell it to a neighbor, or bring it to Jerome March 17 to the community center. Pictured from left are Sister M. Mercedes, Sister M. Eleanor, Sister M. Ida and Sister M. Cornelia. Mrs. Frank Titus, general chairman, is standing. (Times-News photo) are simple: The cake must be made by a male—any age. It can be any type of cake, including the popular "box cake." It must be made completely by the contestant and delivered to Wood cafe by 9:30 a.m. March 17.

EVEN CHILDREN are getting into the act. Rebecca Last, left, and Victoria Last, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Last, have fun with cake boxes which will hold cakes on St. Patrick's day. Mrs. Last is a member of the St. Benedict's Hospital guild. Jerome women, hospital employees and guild members are busy preparing for the gigantic cake sale. Cakes will be sold whole at the First Security bank, Wood cafe, Thriftyway drugstore, McCleary drugstore and the Jerome Livestock Commission company. They will be sold by the piece at Wood cafe, The Pit and Magic Valley cafe. (Times-News photo) should be used with care in planning the decor of your rooms. Properly used, patterns can bring life, individuality and distinction to the room. Overdone, it can create a confused, "busy" feeling.

Furniture Talk

We're often asked if you can use more than one pattern in the same room. The answer is a qualified "yes"—but not two big, bold patterns. If you choose such a pattern in a print on your sofa, and you'd like another print in a chair, be sure the chair print is smaller to complement the bolder pattern on the sofa. And if you've gone this far with patterns, avoid using another different one in your draperies.

You can achieve variety in your furniture and backgrounds without using different patterns. A change in texture or finish will give you a more subtle variety. Look at the difference when the same color, or one very similar, is used in velvet or an elegant nipped fabric, and again in a rough-textured weave. It will appear different again in smooth nylon draperies.

For variety in furnishings, promise yourself to visit our showroom soon. You'll find a delightful range of decorator fabrics, colors, prints and textures to choose from in fine upholstered furniture, along with a beautiful selection of wood finishes. Come in!

Interdenominational Peace Clinic Planned in T.F.

An interdenominational peace education clinic will be held Wednesday at the Twin Falls Methodist church, the Rev. John N. Garbrandt, assistant pastor of the host church, announced Saturday.

Dr. Norman Whitney, of the American Friends service committee, will lead the clinic. He will conduct the clinic from 4 to 6 p.m. and then address a public meeting at 8 p.m.

Clergymen of all faiths and church leaders and laymen are invited to the clinic. The Rev. Garbrandt said. "He will lecture, lead discussion and use visual aids."

Dr. Whitney is a retired professor of English at Syracuse and is widely traveled in Europe and the Americas.

As a peace consultant for the American Friends service committee, he is a frequent leader of international relations seminars and institutes for high school and college students, as well as adults.

In 1963 he traveled 33,000 miles in Canada and the U.S. and visited for some time among the Doukhobors in British Columbia. A few years ago he spent a summer visiting projects and work camps of the American Friends service committee in Mexico.

In 1960 he was the Quaker representative at the Christian peace conference sponsored by the Ecumenical council of Protestant churches in Czechoslovakia. He also has conducted an extensive lecture tour in England and has attended several international conferences.

"Too often the enemies of Christ have seized the peace of the world," the Rev. Mr. Garbrandt declared. "Here is a cause in which all churches, regardless of theological viewpoint, can work in unity."

The clinic is sponsored by the conference committee on peace and world order of the Methodist church.

Gov. Wallace Is Running In Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis., March 7 (AP)—Alabama's Democratic Gov. George C. Wallace has carried his states' rights campaign into the presidential arena, entering Wisconsin's preferential primary April 7.

With the prediction, "I'll probably get more votes than a lot of people think," Wallace became the third figure in an election that had shaped up as a contest between Democratic and Republican favorite candidates.

Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds had hoped to run unopposed as a favorite son heading a national convention delegate slate pledged to President Lyndon B. Johnson. On the Republican side, Rep. John W. Byrnes is unchallenged as he heads an uncommitted delegate list.

In filing his papers a few hours before the deadline yesterday, Wallace said, "My purpose... is to tell the truth about the so-called civil rights bill and how it would destroy the private enterprise system in the country."

Poverty War To Be Shown In Message

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The strategy of President Johnson's "war on poverty" will be unveiled next week when the chief executive submits his long-awaited special message to congress.

Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D. N.Y., of the house education and labor committee, said yesterday the President's poverty message probably would go to congress by the middle of next week, and that the first year price tag would be about $60 million dollars.

Powell told a news conference his committee plans to begin hearings March 17 or March 18 on the legislation the President seeks to combat "pockets of poverty" amid U.S. abundance.

Among the proposals to be included in the anti-poverty package, he said, are creation of a youth conservation corps, patterned after the civilian conservation corps (CCC) of the 1930's, to provide jobs and job training for unemployed youth.

Powell said the administration also will renew its request for a "national service corps"—a sort of domestic peace corps through which volunteers would contribute their time and professional skills to combating poverty and its causes in urban slums and rural depressed areas.

Powell said Johnson also will submit new educational aid proposals, but there was no clue to their nature. Informed sources have said previously that these proposals will call for federal aid to strengthen schools in poverty-stricken areas, with a view toward helping young people break out of the vicious circle of ignorance and poverty.

Cracks Seen In Blockade With Cuba

MIAMI, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Fidel Castro may have 200 million sugar dollars this spring to widen the crack in the crumbling U.S.-economic blockade of Cuba, exile experts estimate.

The estimate—a contingent upon harvesters winning their race with anti-Castro saboteurs—came as Havana radio, monitored here, told of increasing trade relations with Cuba throughout the world.

"We now have credit as do few other countries," the radio quoted the prime minister as saying, "despite efforts of imperialism to strangle us economically."

The Cuban sugar growers association in exile estimated this year's crop at 3.3 million tons. This compared with 3,821,000 tons last year, smallest in 18 years.

A spokesman for the exile group said that if Russia releases to Cuba all over two million tons, as expected, Castro could keep a million tons to buy machinery, parts and other things needed to bolster his shaky economy. On paper, Cuba is obligated to sell sugar to Russia for 8 cents a pound in merchandise. The world market is higher.

Discussion of Meat Imports Issue Slated

A joint meeting of all Magic Valley organizations interested in the meat imports issue will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the Roundup room of the Rogerson hotel.

Invited to the joint meeting are representatives of all Magic Valley farm organizations, Chambers of Commerce, cattle-men's associations, Farm Bureaus, Farmers union, Granges, cattle feeders associations, dairy groups and any other groups interested in or affected by livestock production.

Members of the cattle feeders, the National Farm organization and other livestock producer groups decided on the meeting at a gathering Monday night in the Depot grill Caboose room where an open discussion was held on the meat import problem.

Whether future meetings of this kind will be held will be decided Monday evening.

Importance of Immunization Is Stressed

During last year's mass Sabin oral polio vaccine program, only about one-half the residents of the Twin Falls area were immunized, announced Dr. Luther Thompson, medical director of the southeastern district health department.

"This is a great step forward in the eradication of polio from our community, though often inadequate," stated Dr. Thompson.

All adults should receive original or booster immunizations. They also should be immunized against other diseases, specifically diphtheria, tetanus (lock-jaw) and small pox, with boosters at least every four years for diphtheria and tetanus and every five to seven years for small pox, he added.

It is particularly important that infants have completed the diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus series and small pox vaccination before the first birthday anniversary, and have subsequent boosters, Dr. Thompson declared.

For further information consult family physician or the health department Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, he urged.

Buhl Man Is Held in Jail For Burglary

BUHL, March 7—Ralph Thompson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, Buhl, was bound over to district court Friday by Twin Falls Probate Judge Zoe Ann Warberg on charges of first degree burglary.

Thompson was apprehended by Buhl Patrolman James Lowder about 2 a.m. Friday while Thompson was taking gas from a truck owned by Ralph Peterson and Verne Peterson, 1224 Birch street.

Thompson was charged in probate court with breaking into a shed owned by George Fritz, route three, Buhl. A power chain saw was taken from the shed.

According to Lowder, Thompson told him he took gas from the Fritz residence as well as from the Peterson place.

About five gallons of gasoline was stolen from the Fritz residence, as well as the power saw, and a saddle was taken from a house in Melon Valley, Lowder said.

When Lowder searched the Thompson vehicle, he noticed the saddle but did not see the power saw. When he asked Thompson about it, Thompson said he had put the saw in his father's house.

Bond was set by Judge Warberg at $1,000 which was not posted. Thompson was remanded to county jail.

Other facets of the two-day celebration which have not yet been fully discussed are the annual parade, pancake breakfast, chicken feed, rock show, fireworks and dancing.

Hoffman said the next meeting of the committee is set for 8 p.m. March 18 at the Star cafe. He said meetings will be held every two weeks for the next two months, and urged all local civic groups to have representatives attend.

Mississippi Voting Laws Are Upheld

JACKSON, Miss., March 7 (AP)—Mississippi's controversial voting laws have been found constitutional in a two-to-one decision by a three-judge federal court panel.

The ruling came yesterday in a suit by the Justice department which said the laws were shaped with the intent of barring Negroes from voting. The suit was dismissed.

The laws specify that a voter must be of good moral character and able to read, write and interpret the state constitution to the satisfaction of the registrar.

"No provisions of the state constitution or a statute of Mississippi deprive any citizen of the right to vote because of race or color," the majority opinion said.

Paychecks This Week Are Increased by Income Tax Cut

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—The administration is counting on the resulting step-up in expenditures to spur expansion in an already flourishing economy, and by generating more jobs, to reverse a persistent upward trend in unemployment.

How the medicine works, only time will tell.

Its arrival on the business and finance scene came at a time when favorable omens continued to pile up as disquieting influences were few.

The stock market climbed to new high ground and despite some backing and filling showed signs of digging in there, or even pushing higher.

More good news came from the booming auto industry, a bellwether of prosperity, with many sales, both new and used, showing a second strong underlying force with wide-spread attention.

Other reports told of a sharp rise in machine-tool orders, increased factory bookings of new orders and promising achievements toward development of a superconductor commercial air transport.

The consumer price index, revised to reflect changed purchasing patterns, crept higher, leading aluminum producers made an ingot price rise stick after two abortive attempts.

New car sales posted a record in February for a fifth consecutive month. The selling rate of 35,253 cars a day was up seven per cent from a year earlier and eclipsed a previous mark for February—23,374 set in 1955.

Steel production, gaining for a ninth consecutive week, mounted to nearly three-fourths of capacity and reached an eight-month high.

Wall Street was heartened when the stock market, as mentioned by the popular Dow-Jones industrial average, started the week on a firm upbeat after the preceding week above the 800 level for the first time.

The consumer price index, a leading gauge of inflation, was higher in January—by 1.1 at 107.7—only on the basis of a new method of calculating living costs. On the old basis, it held steady at 107.5.

Stock sales reached 26,048,470 shares, slightly under the previous week's volume of 26,444,910. Bond sales, par value, totaled $53,910,000 compared with $63,262,000 the previous week.

Industrials

Close at All-Time High

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—The stock market paused in its upward trend of this week but showed no real signs of weakening and closed Friday at a new all-time high in the Dow-Jones Industrials.

Stocks continued to show effects of the signing of the tax cut bill and the break-through in the Dow-Jones Industrials, by moving up to new all-time highs Monday and Tuesday.

The market advanced aimlessly Wednesday and Thursday but resumed its advance Friday to close at a new record 800.03. This put the senior indicator up 5.89 on the week.

Despite many predictions to the contrary, one broker had this to say about the tax cut and its subsequent effect on the stock market:

"I believe the market is still underestimating the impact that the tax cut is going to have almost immediately at all levels of the economy. I think that business activity and earnings will be sufficient to support a Dow-Jones index of 900 or better this year—or perhaps even this summer."

"This does not rule out the possibility of some milling around near present price levels for a brief period until the tax cut can make itself felt in the statistics. But the longer the market builds a base, the firmer that base will be."

Business news remained bullish on balance and included: an eight-month high for steel production; record January factory orders; the biggest surge in machine tool orders since the mid-1950s; higher retail and department store sales.

Although autos had sharply higher sales in February, production this week was scheduled five per cent below the previous week. Alcoa, Kaiser aluminum and Reynolds metals, which boosted their domestic price on aluminum, were up 4, 1, and 2, respectively.

Alcoa held the center of attention, President Johnson announced that a new military jet under development by Lockheed Supermarket Corp. and other known planes and Lockheed stock added 7 1/2. McDonnell jumped 7 1/2 after receiving a 662.8 million dollar defense contract for jet fighters. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reduced the B70 bomber program from three to two planes and North American aviation, which makes the plane, eased its stock level and closed up 1/2.

Trading amounted to 25,979,952 shares compared with 26,406,040 in the previous week and 20,210,540 in the similar 1963 period.

Dow-Jones falls were up 124 to 140.45, utilities off 0.05 to 140.45 and 65 stocks up 161 to 282.14. Standard and Poor 500 stock index rose 0.51 to close at a record 7831.

Budget for Jerome Is Approved

JEROME, March 7—The Jerome city council has approved a 45-1 mill levy, the same as in 1963.

No one appeared to protest at the city council budget hearing this week. The library fund was increased 1 mill and the general levy was reduced by a like sum.

Two mills levied last year for fire department equipment were transferred to the streets, lighting, sprinkling, oiling and snowing fund.

The general fund budget is approximately $12,000 higher for 1964. In 1963 it was $125,324.60 and this year it is $137,324.12. There was an overall rise in salaries in most of the departments.

Administration was $12,210 in 1963 and $12,500 in 1964. In the first department the salaries rise from $12,560 to $13,740. The police department budget for salaries for 1964 is $2,910, same as last year.

There was $500 budgeted for elections last year, with nothing budgeted this year. Miscellaneous expenses budgeted for were $220 less this year.

There was nothing budgeted for fire hose in the general fund in 1963 and $275 this year. Repairs and maintenance for fire equipment was reduced

Moisture Is Needed for Normal Flow

BOISE, March 7 (AP) — Normal or greater than normal snowfall is necessary in March if Idaho stream flows are to be brought up to normal, the U. S. soil conservation service said today.

In its monthly report on gem state snow pack measurements, the agency said water supply outlook took a "significant drop" during February.

The GCS said a wet January was followed by light snowfall during February, which ordinarily has heavy snowfall.

Due to the lack of storm activity, snow water contents in both mountain and valley areas dipped from 10 per cent to 40 per cent in relation to normal during February, the conservation service said.

Stream flow forecasts now vary from 55 per cent of normal on the Bear river at Harer to 103 per cent of normal for the Big Lost river at Howell ranch.

"In general," State Conservationist Lee T. Morgan said, "the April through September stream flow for the major rivers in the state is forecast to fall 10 per cent to 20 per cent below an average year."

Mitigating the pessimism of the report, however, was the fact that stored water and soil moisture should make up for the expected deficiencies in stream flow — at least in many cases.

Storage in reservoirs around the state is generally good, although in several cases it is slightly below normal for this time of year. The exceptions include Bear Lake, Oakley and Owyhee reservoirs.

The streamflow forecast by river system for the period April through September now includes: Kootenai river at Leonia, 88 per cent; Snake river at Post Falls, 88; Snake river near Heise, 85; Big Lost at Howell ranch, 103; Big Wood at Halley, 82; Boise near Boise, 81; Payette near Horseshoe Bend, 80; Salmon at Whitebird, 91; Clearwater at Spalding, 90, and Bear river at Harer, 55.

But for the time being, the former senate aide said in an interview yesterday, "I'm going to practice law and try to look after the enterprises I have."

Baker quit under fire last October as secretary to the senate's Democratic majority. The rules committee is still investigating whether Baker, who claimed a net worth of more than two million dollars last year, engaged in activities that conflicted with his official duties or involved other improper interests while he was on the senate payroll.

The committee got no answers from Baker, who accused it of conducting a "legislative trial" and invading the prerogatives of the judiciary. In refusing to answer, he invoked his fifth amendment protestation against self-incrimination, and other constitutional rights.

Baker expressed himself as well pleased with public reaction to his stand and said mail he has received is running "40 to one in favor of my position."

He indicated that if he does seek public office, it probably would be in his native South Carolina. He left Pickens, S.C., at the age of 14 to become a senate page boy, and still has numerous interests there.

Red Premier Raps Big City Bureaucrats

MOSCOW, March 7 (AP) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today warned big city bureaucrats that they can't help cure the nation's chronic agricultural ills unless they get down on the farm.

Soviet farmers, who know best of all what to plant efficiently, should take the initiative in planning farm programs within the framework of a general plan, Khrushchev said in a 28,500-word speech delivered Feb. 28 and released in today's press.

Khrushchev, bitterly attacking bureaucrats in such big cities as Moscow, Kiev and Tashkent, said they blindly dispatched orders to the farms "which paralyze activities."

The premier, who prides himself on a get-your-hands-dirty understanding of farm problems, said "it isn't enough for people to know the program of the party — they must also have profound understanding of production, machinery, technology, plant and stock raising."

He ridiculed a bureaucrat who ruined 20 farms and was now applying for another post — to ruin his 21st.

Venezuelan President Steps Down As First Chief to Complete Term

CARACAS, March 7 (AP) — After five stormy years President Romulo Betancourt will step down Wednesday as the first democratically elected chief executive in Venezuelan history to finish a term.

"We may lead a more quiet life," his Costa Rican wife Carmen, says. "But I don't believe that much."

Nor does anyone else think this military aide, Betancourt's stern and pugilistic Betancourt, who was 56 on Feb. 22, will quietly retire. He says he will rest but his inactivity is expected to be only temporary.

"After five years that have been both arduous and difficult, and preceded by a long exile, I want to recover my condition as a common man," Betancourt has said.

Major Talk Planned on Latin Policy

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP) — President Johnson is planning a major speech on U. S. Latin American policy focused on the Alliance for Progress.

The President also is expected to send to congress in the next few weeks a message on U. S. foreign aid plans and operations which will cover the work of an interdepartmental committee given the task two months ago of planning a shakeup in AID.

The committee is headed by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

The occasion for the speech on Latin America will be the initial meeting March 18 of the Inter-American Committee on the Alliance for Progress. The Organization of American States announced Friday that Johnson will speak on that date to the committee, which is designed to function as the permanent executive organ of the alliance.

In both the alliance speech and the foreign aid message, Johnson, according to informed officials, will place a heavy new emphasis on the theme of "self-help" by the countries receiving U. S. assistance.

He is also expected to report how the staff of the agency for international development has been to a considerable degree integrated with the state department staff so that a closer coordination of AID activities and diplomacy can be developed over the world.

Informed officials say that radical changes in the AID operation, which were initially given serious consideration by the Ball committee, have largely been eliminated.

SHOSHONE, March 7 — L. R. Middleton, Rupert, entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of shooting at a pheasant hunter last fall when he appeared in district court Thursday morning before Judge Charles Scoggin.

His bond was set at $2,500 which he did not post. He is in the Lincoln county jail of await trial 10 a.m. April 28.

Richard Blaine Rupert, for whom Middleton was working on the farm at the time of the shooting incident, withdrew his $1,000 bond posted on behalf of Middleton when he appeared in justice court.

Glenn Treated For Concussion

SAN ANTONIO, March 7 (AP) — Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, Jr., spaceman turned politician, underwent treatment today for a brain concussion today in a hospital familiar from his astronaut days.

Glenn, who bumped his head on a bathtub in his apartment Feb. 26, was transferred Friday from Columbus, O., to Wilford Hall hospital on Lackland air force base.

The 42-year-old Ohio senatorial candidate, who quit the U. S. space program to go into politics, has been at the hospital several times previously to undergo physicals and tests as an astronaut.

Rough and difficult are modifiers for private life. Glenn, who had only a 50-50 survival chance when he streets of any city, pause and look in store windows, go to a store, buy a newspaper or a book, whose history is filled with military dictatorship.

He weathered plots and revolts from both right and left aimed at overthrowing his government. A 1960 bombing killed of his heavily guarded home.

"I have to rest and recover physically from work and even from the aftermath of my hand wounds," Betancourt said. "I think I should rest in some quiet place, to see and study what I want."

Betancourt plans a three month trip to Britain, France, Italy and some Arab republics, probably leaving at the end of March.

GOP Hopefuls Split on Issues

CONCORD, N.H., March 7 (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller are widely split on some major foreign and domestic issues as they climax their New Hampshire primary campaigns.

The two contenders for the Republican presidential nomination have crossed the state to spell out their differences over social security, civil rights legislation, whether the United States should withdraw from the United Nations if Communist China gains admission and other problems.

But in their campaigning for next Tuesday's primary they have not come together on the same platform at the same time. Rockefeller challenged his opponent to a face-to-face debate but Goldwater declined.

In the absence of such a confrontation, the Associated Press asked each to supply written answers to a series of questions without either having access to the other's replies.

Their response disclosed, among other things, that Rockefeller believes the canal treaty with Panama should be renegotiated but Goldwater does not. Goldwater, on the other hand, proposed consideration be given to attacking communist supply routes from North Viet Nam, a move Rockefeller did not suggest in his comment.

Here are the questions and each man's answer:

Q. What would you consider a victory in the New Hampshire primary? A. In terms of popularity poll votes and B in delegates elected? What impact would such a showing have on the remainder of your campaign for the nomination?

GOLDWATER — I would consider it a victory in the New Hampshire primary if I were to poll 35 per cent of the popular vote and win between seven and 10 delegates.

ROCKEFELLER — I entered the New Hampshire primary as an underdog, in the basic contest with Senator Goldwater — four or five to one, according to outside estimates. If the warmth and friendliness which have been evident here in New Hampshire during the past weeks are any indication, there is a reasonable chance I won't end up in that position.

A plurality of one over any other candidate, I would consider an important victory. The same would be true if I should get a plurality of the delegates favorable to me.

Q. What is your position on social security? Do you think the system should be changed in any way?

GOLDWATER — My position is plainly that social security is a contract between the government and the people and I believe in keeping contracts. My concern in this area is over the future value of the dollar which our people are presently paying into the fund. I believe they should be protected from the erosion of inflation so that when participants retire they receive the full value of the dollar which they contributed.

ROCKEFELLER — I strongly support the proven, contributory social security system as a basic floor of protection for working men and women and their families.

I am strongly opposed to the "voluntary" notion that Senator Goldwater has espoused for social security — because it would bankrupt the system and be a personal disaster to millions of Americans.

During the past weeks are any indication, there is a reasonable chance I won't end up in that position.

PIRATES EXTEND A-4 TOURNEY TO MONDAY

Hagerman Uses Free Throws to Top Camas 48-45

HAGERMAN, March 7.—With Dave Thompson hitting six from the foul line in the last two minutes, the Hagerman Pirates threw the fifth district A-4 basketball tournament into an extra session tonight by dropping the Camas County Muckers 48-45. When the clubs meet in the final at 8 p.m. Monday the district championship and a berth in the state tournament in Burley next week will be at stake. Over the season Camas County has beaten Hagerman three times and lost only once.

Both teams were tight and cold through the first three quarters but finished up with an offensive fireworks display. Camas County led 19-8 in the first quarter but Hagerman came back into an 18-18 halftime edge. Then the Pirates went in front 28-24 after three periods.

Then came the finale that saw Camas County score 21 points but Hagerman won it by scoring 20.

With 2:15 left in the game, Hagerman was holding a three-point edge. Camas County, after calling timeout, came back with a full court press and senior Mitch Perkins promptly stole the ball and drove in for a crippler.

That signaled a Thompson-Perkins scoring duel. As Hagerman took the ball out, Thompson was fouled and promptly dropped both free throws through. Perkins came back with a Camas County field goal but the Mustangs again fouled Thompson and Thompson proved four in a row was no problem.

Perkins was just as persistent, hitting his third straight field goal to keep Camas County within one point. But Camas County then fouled Dave Glauner, who hit both of his. With 16 seconds left Jones had a one-and-one free throw for Camas County, shot and missed the first try. But Hagerman was guilty of entering the lane too soon and Jones, given a second chance, made it pay off. Eight seconds later, however, Thompson went back to the foul line to hit two more free throws and ice the victory.

Wills Accepts Dodgers Terms
VERO BEACH, Fla., March 7.—Shortstop Maudy Wills, the Los Angeles Dodgers' lone hold-out, wired today from his Veranda, Wash., home that he has accepted 1964 terms.

"Maudy said he would be here as soon as possible," said Dodger General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi. "I'm glad he won't miss any more spring training than he has."

Bavasi said Wills had been offered the same salary as he received in 1963, when he was valued at approximately $200,000 for $40,000 for stealing a record 104 bases in 1962. The 31-year-old switch-hitter averaged 302 last season and led the National league with 40 stolen bases.

Tuttle Wins Baltimore Open
BALTIMORE, March 7.—Tommy Tuttle, 31-year-old former tobacco inspector from King, N.C., won the $32,000 Baltimore open today for his first victory on the Professional Bowlers association tour.

Tuttle whipped Dick Downey, Bloomfield, N.J., 245-212 in the finals and took the $4,000 prize. Downey won $2,000.

Tuttle was last in the field of 16 to survive the qualifying round and had the smallest pin total of the four bowlers who reached the finals.

But Tuttle polished off Jerry McCoy, Fort Worth, Tex., 204-163, and Sam Baca, Hayward, Calif., 236-172 to advance to the championship. Baca won $1,500 for third and McCoy $1,300.

McCovey, Haller Lead Giants' Win
TUCSON, Ariz., March 7.—Willie McCovey hit a 425-foot homerun and Tom Haller drove in three runs as the San Francisco Giants beat the Cleveland Indians 4-2 in a Cactus league opener today.

McCovey, who whacked 44 homers for the Giants last year, belted a long one off Indian starter Pedro Ramos, who was otherwise highly effective in a three-inning stint.

Five Ketchum Skiers Named To Area Team

KETCHUM, March 7.—Five Ketchum youths will leave here Friday for Squaw Valley, Calif., where they will compete in the national junior ski championships March 16-22.

They will be accompanied by Jack Simpson, coach of the Sun Valley Juniors, who has been appointed coach of the Intermountain junior races, and Gary (Butch) Harper, Ketchum, his assistant.

John Sabala, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sabala; Robert (Robbie) Bell, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Bell; Dennis Miller, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, and Mike Simpson, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Simpson have been chosen to compete in the boys' races and Pamela Street, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Street, to compete in the girls' team.

Three five-members of the Sun Valley Junior Racers team were chosen immediately following last Sunday's races at Jackson, where the top junior skiers of the area competed for the honor. The other 10 members of the Intermountain area team to compete at Squaw Valley are from Ogden, Jackson and four from Salt Lake City.

Simpson said "The selections made at Jackson speak well for the junior program started about four years ago, when the present racers were in the fifth and sixth grades. It shows what can happen when a community gets behind its young skiers and gives them the backing they need."

Skiing in the Ketchum grade school is given as a part of the physical education program for those who sign up for it.

Given an excellent ride by Jockey Kenny Church, Mr. Consistency won by three quarters of a length for his second rich victory of the meeting.

There was a shower at noon and the murky clouds began to leak again as post time for the feature race drew near, sending the unsheltered fans scurrying for cover.

But the turf was rated good. The triumph was worth $54, 100 and brought Mr. Consistency's winnings for the waning meeting to $210,750 and lifetime earnings to $378,860.

Mr. Con Wins Capistrano Second Race
ARCADIA, Calif., March 7.—The favored Mr. Consistency captured the big half of a racing doubleheader Saturday, the $87, 850 San Juan Capistrano handicapped, on a dreary and drizzly afternoon at Santa Anita park.

The crowd roared with admiration as Mr. Consistency, packing high weight of 125 pounds, held off the stretch challenge of a long shot, Puyallup, weighted at 100, and scored his fourth stakes victory of the meeting.

When Aldershot began to tire the threat of Cadiz presented itself, and Mr. Con, as the stable calls him, had to stow him away.

Four ballots were cast by north Idaho voters, six in southwestern Idaho and the remainder in southeastern Idaho.

Jim Hand of Coeur d'Alene headed the second five with Wayne Auer, leading SIC scorer from Idaho Falls, Borah's Bob Satterfield, Nampa's Ron Nell and Paul Gentle of Boise rounding out the squad.

The third team, a six-member unit, was composed of John Williams of Kellogg, Tony Diller of Weiser, Mike Fulton of Coeur d'Alene, Robb Williams of Jerome, John Hamilton of Lewiston and Tim Olson of Kellogg.

West, who squeezed by Beer by one voting point in the race for second, was scored 320 points and placed Mountain Home to the first South-Central-Idaho conference title.

Beer, despite an ankle injury which kept him out of two early season games, ripped in 267 points during the 20-game regular season and helped the Bruins to a 14-6 record after a shaky 4-5 start. Twin Falls then took the region three A-1 title Friday night.

Fourteen ballots were cast in the all-state voting by AP-member sportswriters and sportscasters. The same voters earlier had nominated players from their areas for the ballot and had been following teams and players from schools with enrollments of 300 or more since the AP poll for Idaho class A-1 and A-2 schools was inaugurated in December.

Southpaw Given Encouragement
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7.—Left-handed batters trying to make the St. Louis Cardinals team were given encouragement today.

Manager Johnny Keane announced he would like to have a third left-handed hitter in the daily line-up to join first baseman Bill White and catcher Tim McCaver.

Left-handed hitters on the roster include outfielders Doug Clemens and Johnny Lewis, and Gary Kolb who played infield and outfield. Kolb may be retained because he also can catch in an emergency.

Allen May Go in Phillies Lineup
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 7.—Manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies is toying with thoughts of rookie third baseman Richie Allen's place in the line-up if he makes it.

"If he could do it, I'd love to have him hitting No. 2," said Mauch. "That would let me put John Callison in the No. 4 spot, and I bet you John would drive in 110 runs. But we just won't know about Allen for a while except that he's a bright, willing kid who's bearing down to make it."

Twin Falls' Steve Beer Named to All-Idaho Cage Team; Imel Tops Voting

(By The Associated Press)

Ron Imel of Borah led the voting in the initial Associated Press-all-Idaho prep basketball team, which was announced Saturday.

Joining the 6-foot, 3-inch guard on the all-senior first team were Ken West of Mountain Home, Steve Beer of Twin Falls, Dale Peterson of Bonneville and Dave Dillon of Sandpoint. Dillon is the tallest at 6 feet, 5 inches; Peterson stands 6 feet, 2 inches; Beer 5 feet, 11 inches and West 5 feet, 9 inches.

Imel shared player-of-the-year honors in the Southern Idaho conference, which Borah won at 14-0, with Beer earlier in the season and led the Boise bench school Lions to the championship in the 1964 Associated Press poll. He has scored 323 points for 13.5 per game.

School's Career Scoring Mark Is Broken by Crump

POCATELLO, March 7 (AP)—Art Crump set a new career scoring record for Idaho State tonight as he scored 30 points to lead the Bengals to an 83-75 victory over Big Sky conference champion Montana State. The 6-foot, 4-inch senior finished his three varsity years at Idaho State with 1,557 points to eclipse the old mark of 1,548 set by Les Roh in 1953-56. Crump received a standing ovation at the end of the game.

The loss was the second in a row for Montana State which clinched the first Big Sky basketball championship a week ago. The Bengals finished their conference season with an 8-2 mark, while Idaho State ended in a third place tie with Gonzaga at 5-5.

The score was tied five times in the first half and five times in the second half before Idaho State moved out in front for good. The Bengals tied 83-71 with a minute remaining.

Montana State was cold from the floor, hitting on only 34 percent of its field goal tries. Idaho State shot at a 50 percent clip.

Utah Shooters Hold Lead in Rifle Meet

A pair of Utah shooters took the lead for the southern section of the Idaho state gallery rifle championship tournament Saturday but will have to await results of another full day's action Sunday to turn them into championships.

David Overmier, Ogden, moved in front with a 775 total while David Anderson, Brigham City, was second with 766.

Overmier hit 200 in the prone position, 199 sitting, 196 kneeling and 190 off hand. Anderson's event scores were 200, prone, 197 sitting, 191 kneeling and 178 standing.

Two champions will be crowned in each event Sunday night as the southern section scores will be compared with those fired in northern competition last month at Sandpoint. State championships will be awarded in this manner. In addition other awards will be made on a sectional basis.

None of the scores from the northern meet have been released.

Liberty Union To Fight for Jim Brosnan

CHICAGO, March 7 (AP)—The American Civil Liberties Union has taken up the civil liberties fight of Jim Brosnan, former Chicago White Sox relief pitcher.

Brosnan, after refusing to sign a contract which would have prohibited him from publishing articles during the baseball season, was placed on waivers by the White Sox. When no club in the major leagues claimed him for the $1 asking price, the White Sox gave Brosnan his release.

Brosnan then ran an advertisement which stated his pitching qualifications in the Sporting News, St. Louis newspaper devoted to baseball and sports.

The American Civil Liberties Union then took up the fight and wrote a letter to a A. C. Allison, president of the Chicago White Sox, lecturing the club on its censorship policy.

Brosnan, who has written a couple of baseball books in addition to numerous articles, said at the time of his release "I may be the first ball player released for asking for the right of free expression."

In the letter of the White Sox, John Gooss, chairman of the Illinois American Civil Liberties union's freedom of communication committee, said the Sox should take a long hard look at the play they made when they chased Brosnan out of the big leagues with a $1 waiver.

Wall, Knudson Tie Third Round

DORADO, Puerto Rico, March 7 (AP)—Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa., and George Knudson, Torontopolis, the defending champion, both shot par 72 today and went into a tie for the lead after the first round of the Puerto Rico open golf tournament.

Wall, leading in the Caribbean tournament, scored a 72 and Knudson, each had a hole-in-one in the first round.

Perce, who won three over par on the Dorado Hilton course as gusty winds on the back nine played havoc with drives. Only one player broke par—Ed Rubin, Chicago, Pa., fired a 68 to take third place at 216.

Louisville Hardly Recognizes Humble and Quiet Cassius Clay

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 7 (AP)—He spoke at length on his membership in the Black Muslim sect, saying he had found "real peace."

"I guess that's why I'm invited to go to so many countries in the East," he added. "That's the religion there, the religion of Islam. It's followers are Muslims, a group of persons who submit entirely to the cause of peace."

The championship, he said, has thrown a lot of responsibility on me. I saw that when I visited the United Nations and everyone tried to get my autograph."

"I know the whole world is watching me," he said. "That's why I plan a tour of the world, especially the African nations, starting in about three weeks."

He quietly thanked Louisville Mayor William Cowser and former Lieut. Gov. Wilson Wyatt as they congratulated him on behalf of his native city and state.

Cowser gave the 22-year-old champion a certificate as an "ambassador of good will" from Louisville and a lapel pin in the form of a key to the city.

He signed a few autographs, but stopped en route to a news conference room to sign a Bible for an elderly Negro woman.

In the conference room, he sat with his parents and said he was "really thrilled to get home—I need the rest."

Angels Coast Over Cubs 7-3

PALM SPRINGS, March 7 (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels scored five runs in the first inning, coasting to a 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs "B" team today in an exhibition season inaugural.

Four of the Angel runs in the first inning were unearned because of errors by two former L. A. infielders, Ken Aspromonte and Leo Burke.

Catcher Bob Rodgers and rookie outfielder Dick Simpson drove in two runs apiece. First baseman Charlie Dees, outfielder Lee Thomas and rookie second baseman Bobby Knop produced the other Angel runs.

Aspromonte and Burke accounted for all of the Cub runs as well as for two of the Cubs' three errors. Aspromonte drove in a run with a single and a double.

Idahoans Are Smoking Less Than in 1963

BOISE, March 7 (AP)—Idahoans are smoking fewer cigarettes than they were a year ago—about 240,000 packages less in the month of February.

Idaho collected nearly one million dollars more in general fund taxes than in February, 1963, with income tax accounting for $926,000 of the increase.

That put the state $3,009,600 ahead of a year ago, $2,564,164 of it in income tax gains.

The more than 20 per cent increase in February over a year ago suggests a pickup in economic activity during 1963, although part of it must be credited to income tax increases of about 10 per cent.

Idaho was able to shave its general fund deficit during the month from nearly 16 million dollars to 12.8 million dollars.

It's all in the way you look at it, but if you go by birthday anniversaries, then you have to say that there were youngsters and youngsters enjoying the party.

Birthday party — it was! And there were an even dozen special guests plus a greater number of special who were either older than that or guests as husbands, wife, relative or friend and also a more curious people who were there in a business capacity or because they were hungry.

The idea behind it all belonged to the Pot Shota, the "Tinsie-New's" food columnist, "day's day" columnist. He appeared, not in age but in the second birthday party for those souls born on a date that rolls around only once every four years.

Staged at the Rogerson hotel Roundup room on Saturday evening, Feb. 29, the party was hilarious, entertaining and instructive. It started with a get-acquainted hour and ended up with choice steaks being served to all.

One of the things that was over there were questions by Pot Shos as to what had transpired during the last four years and a wish that all would be together for another birthday party somewhere near Feb. 29, 1968.

Deane R. Daniel was Mrs. George R. Daniel, hooding, who observed that his birthday was a leap year. She would have been 30 but it seems that the year 1900 (because it couldn't be divided by four or 400) was not a Leap Year.

Therefore, Mrs. Daniel didn't have a birthday anniversary that year. It was just eight years between events, as a result.

Actually, as time goes, Mrs. Daniel has seen 60 years come and go. Birthday-wise, though, she has only observed 19 anniversaries — as she said when she cut the cake for the assembled guests:

"I'm just a kid at heart." — She and her husband occupied the place of honor at the head table for the party and this resulted in both of them assisting eagerly in cutting the birthday cake.

Anniversaries of the other 11 guests stood at 15, 14, 13, 12, 9 and 8.

If you want to know their real ages then you will have to figure it out for yourself.

Most people add up their age each time they observe a birth anniversary. This being the case, the guests at the Pot Shols party were just the age they said they were although, all admitted, they appeared (and felt) older.

There were five 15-year-olds at the party. Mrs. Lester G. Cooley said she admitted her hobby was ham radio operating.

Mrs. A. L. (Jane) Wüsching, Twin Falls, is a registered nurse who is taking night school studies as provided by Idaho State university at the O'Leary Junior high school.

"I'm never too old to learn," she declared, "and geology is fas-minating. There's nothing wrong with a rockhound."

J. S. Cook, Buhl, said he was born and raised in Kansas amid duststorms and hailstorms and so when it came time to retire he decided that Idaho was the place. "I thought I'd grow stale and so, to fill in the time, he is now a ditch rider."

This was his first real celebration, he said. He added, under questioning, that he was married for a leap year - 1918.

Angus Spence, Twin Falls, said he had to get home early because he was on the early shift on that day. He's a police officer and has been for years.

O. W. Davis, likewise from Twin Falls, said he had been on the years roll by quite a long time, even birthday anniversaries in her life, but she is actually 80-year old. "I'm still a teen-ager at heart," she declared as she cut the cake for those attending the special Times-News sponsored event. (Times-News photo) anniversary every fourth one. He admitted, however, that he enjoyed every day and said that the Pot Show party was one of the most important things that ever happened in a "23."

At 14 Mrs. Gove Brede, of Falls, said that nothing much has happened since her last "birthday celebration." She has lived in Twin Falls since 1910 and was married nine years ago. Her hobby? Working on an old Ford car.

Just turning 13 was Mrs. Thelma Eberhart, of Idaho Falls, who runs the local estate business. She also pointed out that they were not much in merriment. They live in the house in which her husband was born. This house, incidentally, is only 10 miles from where she was born.

"You can see, that we are homebodies," she laughed.

At the age of 12, Olean Genn, of Idaho Falls, county agent in Twin Falls, said that the little time she had never seen recognition given to the "one every four years" birthday observers.

Dad told Genn said he had never realized there were so many who were born on February 23.

Before this party I had never met any person who had this birthday," said Genn, in a situation that I said," Genn said she added.

"One thing you sure, as long as your birthdays are four years apart that old rocking chair will never get you.

At 9 years old, E. E. Kennedy, Kimberly, was practically a babe in arms although, during that period of nine birth anniversaries, he had been in a "cradle" twice and although in California, for the last 10 years he had finally "woken up" and come back to Idaho to live.

Kennedy admitted that he had never married.

By MRS. RONALD JONES
KIMBERLY, March 7.—The very latest in nursing care for senior citizens is presented at "Magic of the Ages" Nursing Home, the attractive Mountain View Nursing Home located northeast of Kimberly. The most modern equipment and furnishings, designed with the elderly or sitting in mind, also are apparent in the $150,000 one-story, "T" shaped structure operated by Al Benkula, Twin Falls.

The home has five private rooms and 33 semi-private units. The spacious rooms are well designed and furnished in a pleasing decor.

Each patient has a modern hospital-type bed, equipped with patient-proof mattress and individual call buttons which lend to the patient's comfort and well being. Walkers and wheel chairs are available for the invalid patient, enabling them to take their meals in the dining room and enjoy the company of their visitors, or the view in the recreation hall.

The nurses' desk is located in the center of the "T" shaped structure enabling anyone at the desk to see the doors of every room in the home.

All the patients' records are kept in easy reach at the desk and are adjacent to the special dispensing enabling the staff to dispense any needed medication easily and safely, as ordered by their physician.

Patients at the home are allowed to be treated by the doctor of their choice, and in an emergency there is a doctor available.

in the vicinity of the nursing home. Special drugs prescribed by the physicians are kept locked in the pharmacy at the home.

Mealtime for the residents of the home is a pleasant time, as the patients are given a menu of their own desire as long as they are under no restriction by their doctor. Patients who are able to move under their own power or when, aided by two attendants, are fed in an attractive dining room with lovely views of the surrounding farm land and the south hills.

Lagging appetites are no problem, with the meals prepared by Mrs. Ollie Lundy. Benkulka remarked that his nurses are especially pleased with her "home made" delicacies and have expressed unhappiness when they have discovered they have gained weight with the over-abundance of food food.

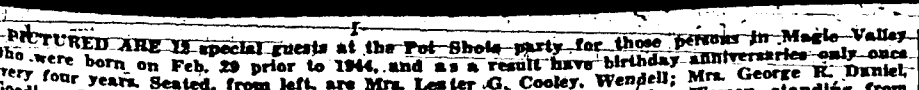

Benkulka further states that her "farm style" meal preparation in the sunny kitchen is a pleasure, as it is modern in every detail and extremely well designed.

It is familiar sight to see the patients "stick their heads in the kitchen door" to see what's cooking or to remark about the delicious aroma of the kitchen.

It's a policy of the home to offer food to the patients who are unable to eat. Benkulka remarks that "to many elderly people mealtime is about all they have to plan for, and to many elderly patients the need to eat when they feel hungry instead of a set time is an aid to their recovery."

The patients also enjoy the privilege of being able to invite

Dr. Beymer recently closed his practice in Twin Falls and accepted a position with the University of Georgia in Athens. Mrs. Beymer will join him there soon. Excess Drugs, Medical Equipment Destined for Use in Many Sections

Project of the South Central Idaho Medical auxiliary to make drugs and medical equipment available for use to areas overseas received a boost this week with acceptance of a donation from Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Beymer.

Officials of the auxiliary said a "large amount" of equipment and supplies was donated by Dr. and Mrs. Beymer as his office in Twin Falls was closed.

He has given up his practice here and has accepted a position in the medical field at the University of Georgia, Athens, Ga. Mrs. Beymer will join him soon.

Dr. Beymer is a pioneer physician of the Twin Falls-Burley-Oakley area. Officials of the auxiliary said his contribution to the program was "substantial."

The auxiliary unit cooperated with the International Health Activities program, which in turn is sponsored by the auxiliary of the American Medical association.

This program, which has been in operation since 1961, is to send sample drugs, used medical textbooks and medical supplies and equipment overseas to areas where even medical discards are desperately needed. Some areas receiving the material are primitive.

Each medical auxiliary has been cooperating with the national effort by collecting extra sample drugs and equipment from the physicians' offices and sending them to the nearest medical relief foundation.

Dr. Beymer's donated equipment was sent to the Thomas A. Dooley foundation in San Francisco. This was arranged by the Direct Relief foundation, Santa Barbara, Calif., after the suggestion was made by Mrs. Irene Oliver, administrator of Magic Valley hospital. She has been most cooperative in the effort, officials said.

Among others who have made contributions in the program are Dr. and Mrs. Ivan Anderson, Filner, local auxiliary records show.

Recently, Mrs. Anderson received a communication from Mrs. L. G. Auberlin, president of World Medical Relief, Inc., Detroit, Mich. In the letter Mrs. Auberlin wrote, "This will be one of the most soul-gratifying projects your organization has ever had, as the relief of human suffering is a language all people can understand. The need for just our 'medical crumbs' is appalling in areas too close to our shores."

In Magic Valley the project is expected to gain momentum as a result of the two donations listed.

Any member of the medical auxiliary is acquainted with the program and can supply interested physicians with details.

8-year-old?" he commented.

At 8, Mrs. Fred Yoder, Filer, and Gene Johnson, Eden, seemed to enjoy the evening. Mrs. Yoder has only resided in these parts for six months. Her husband is a Filer, cabinetmaker.

As a youngster, she recalls, "when my birthday anniversary came around it was something special, even with seven other brothers and sisters."

Johnson is a Twin Falls postman. Under questioning he said he had been bitten by only one dog—but that animal bit him a total of 12 times. Before joining the postal staff he had worked for C. C. Anderson and the Idaho Power company. He has spent 11 years with the post office.

During the evening Pot Shots, as host pointed out, that only about one out of 1,400 are born on a Feb. 29. In Magic Valley there are only about 75 of these people with only about 40 under "20 years of age." This all added up to the fact that more than one-third of those eligible to attend the Pot Shots gathering did so.

When four more years roll around the party will be staged again. When, after a 4-year time marches on, more will be eligible to attend. As Pot Shots said: "The more the merrier."

ATTENDS PARLEY
WENDELL, March 7 — Dr. Harold B. Holsinger will leave Sunday for Portland to attend a medical meeting. He will return to his office Thursday. Mrs. Holsinger will accompany him.

"THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1963"

A Nail For The Coffin Of the American Republic

A recent president of the American Bar Association has solemnly declared: "The proposed extension of federal executive and administrative control over business, industry, individual citizens and the states by the package of legislation called 'The Civil Rights Act of 1963' exceeds the sum total of all such extensions by all previous sessions of the Supreme Court and all Acts of Congress from 1787 to June 19, 1963. When future generations look back through the eyes of history at this legislation they will recognize ten percent of 'civil rights' and ninety percent extension of raw Federal power."

The results of this legislation would be enormous suffering by and oppression of both our white citizens and our Negro citizens alike, and such turmoil, rioting, bitterness and chaos as benefits only the Communists—or a Federal government drunk with its drive for power. For a free copy of a brief analysis of this legislation by highest legal authority, write to Co-ordinating Committee for Fundamental American Freedoms, Suite 520, 301 First Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. For a full understanding of the background, forces and purposes behind this legislation, send one dollar for "THE CIVIL RIGHTS PACKET to American Opinion, Belmont, Massachusetts."

In the meantime, the last bulwark against this Act is the hard pressed opposition within the United States Senate. If you oppose this "Civil Rights Act of 1963," make your protest known, emphatically and immediately, by telegrams and letters, not only to your own Senators but to as many other Senators as you can. The address in every case is simply Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C.

'64 CHEVROLET—THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMER

Nothing feels steep in a Chevrolet Impala (including the price!)

A hill is just something to admire the view from when you're driving a '64 Chevrolet. With engines up to a 425-hp V8*, getting from one side to the other wouldn't be much easier if somebody had put a tunnel there.

And if Chevrolet can go over a whole mountain so you hardly feel it, you can imagine how it goes over plain-old bumps. Jet-smooth, of course. We put a big coil spring at all four wheels (not to mention 700 or so sound and shock absorbers throughout the body and chassis) to soak them up just as fast as they come.

As you'd expect, Chevrolet turns in its usual fine performance with everything inside that big beautiful Body by Fisher, too. All kinds of stretch-out room and wide thick-cushioned seats that let you get in a full day's driving without fatigue. Yards of deep-twist carpeting and elegant fabric and vinyl upholstery that make you feel good just being there.

With all its looks and luxury, you can see how anyone might get the idea that this great highway performer is a high-priced car. Unless, of course, they happened to look first at its reasonable Chevrolet price.

And your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to show you that, wherever you drive, the price is probably what you'll feel least of all.

NEW NUMBER APRONS are sported by racers at the Rotarun area near Hailey. Mrs. Robert Kigen, left, tied No. 3 on Robert Nicholson, while her daughter, Lynn, who wears No. 4, and Mrs. Ciseo, secretary, look on. Mrs. Ciseo holds the remainder of the nearly 100 aprons. The numbers were made on canvas donated by R. C. Stephens and the tape was donated by Mrs. Grant Hawkes. Parents and others interested in the Hailey run aided in the program. (Times-News photo)

Spring Skiing Season Is Under Way At Rotarun Facility Near Hailey

HAILEY, March 7 — Rotarun area, some three miles west of Hailey, is enjoying more popularity each week. Spring skiing is now beginning on the slopes, which are in full sunshine the entire day yet never have the direct glare of sun on the north-east slopes.

Rotarun was initiated by the Hailey Rotary club five years ago as a skiing area for young people. It is growing steadily in popularity for use by grownups as well.

The 160 persons are signed up for instruction on Saturdays and Sundays and there are 21 volunteer instructors and patrolmen in the ski school.

The original rope tow was 700 feet long. Last summer a second tow was put in, paralleling the first one and extending 1,250 feet up the mountain. The tows are operated by 15 horsepower electric motors.

Last fall the ski area was taken over by a group of interested skiers who incorporated as the Rotarun Ski association, a non-profit organization, and application was made to a federal agency for funds to erect a J-bar lift.

To date, more than one-half of the cost of the J-bar lift has been obtained by popular subscription from local people.

When the J-bar is installed, the tow will be extended to 1,500 feet, with a 400-foot rise.

Considerable fill work was done last fall on swales to the east of the lift, which creates room to separate expert from beginning skiers. Room for more expansion is unlimited.

Prices are moderate for use of the tows and the area is drawing people from the entire southern part of the state.

Rotarun is associated with the National Ski patrol and 10 of the instructors are national ski patrolmen.

James Hurst, head of the ski school, has taken less experienced instructors to Sun Valley on different occasions for symposiums with Sun Valley instructors. Mrs. Toni Rinehart, Sun Valley instructor for beginning skiers, recently gave a class on Dollar mountain for Rotarun instructors.

Races have been held about every two weeks. Last week-end's races were of special significance to the young skiers when they were able to wear their "number" for the first time.

The number aprons were made by mothers and fathers and others interested in the success of the area.

March 21 or 22 has been set tentatively for spring racing at Rotarun, according to Hurst.

One of the most popular places at the area is the warming hut. While this was operated by volunteer mothers and donated foods until last year, Mrs. Glenn Rice now is full-time operator and serves refreshments.

A second small building has been moved onto the premises and is used for ski school meetings and to house the regulation rescue toboggan. It is hoped a combined, larger warming hut and meeting-house may be built in the future.

History of the Rotarun area for excellent skiing dates back to 1949 when five Hailey high school boys used to ski cross-country to the hill (the road was not kept open then) on Saturdays and Sundays.

They were Hurst, now head of the ski school; Bill Mallory, one of the instructors; Robert Jackson, Hailey, and Sam Winn and Don Justice, now Boise.

Their prediction was that some day this would be a ski area but it has taken many years to come true.

While the road from Hailey to the area is not paved, last summer county commissioners placed gravel on it to alleviate mud during the spring breakup. It is kept well plowed during the winter. The road is on a level slope and there is adequate parking room.

Kenneth Burrell has operated the tows since they first started. The greater part of his time, however, is taken up helping youngsters and grownups too with minor repairs to skis and equipment.

Officers of the association are Dr. A. E. Richards, president; Hurst, vice president; Oliver Adams, treasurer, and Mrs. Joseph Bergin, secretary.

Officers for Riding Club Are Reported

SHOSHONE, March 7 — New officers for the Wood-River Riding club are Marvin Cole, Shoshone, president; Ted Peterson, Jerome, secretary-treasurer, and Wally Young, Hailey, vice president.

At the election, held at the McFall hotel Tuesday night, Robert Walton, Jerome, retiring president, presided and William Hurd, Gooding, gave the secretary-treasurer's report.

Communities represented at the meeting were Shoshone, Richfield, Hailey, Carey, Richfield, Jerome, Eden and two clubs from Twin Falls.

Al Larsen, Twin Falls, showed a film on care and raising of horses.

The next meeting will be held at 8 p.m. April 3 at the McFall hotel. The 1964 jamboree schedule will be made at that time.

Wendell Justice Named to Post

WENDELL, March 7 — C. E. Spencer, Wendell Justice of the peace, has been named director of the Magic Valley region, for the newly formed Magistrates Association of Idaho.

Other directors named include Vince Edwards, Coeur d'Alene for northern Idaho; Alfred Perry, Emmett, for central Idaho; and R. Don Blistine, Pocatello, for southeastern region.

The appointments were made by Glenn A. Phillips, Justice of the peace at Arco, president of the association. Other officers of the association are Wallace Workman, St. Anthony, vice president, and Mrs. Wes Harmon, Eden, secretary-treasurer.

PTA SETS MEET

HAGERMAN, March 7 — Hagerman PTA will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the home economics room. The nominating committee will be named. The meeting time is set for a half hour earlier than usual to enable parents to attend the science fair the same night in Prince Memorial gymnasium.

What Goes On Here?

The Bonneville Power Administration reported an operating loss of $17,700,000 in its fiscal year 1962. Now it has reported for fiscal year 1963 a loss of only $5,483,000. That's a sudden improvement, although still a deficit, of more than $12,000,000! How come?

Its 1963 increase in sales of electric energy over the previous year was more than offset by increased expenses of operating and maintenance. What then was the source of the multi-million dollar improvement?

Bonneville's formal reports to the Secretary of the Interior provide the answer: Bonneville bookkeeping has been changed at the expense of taxpayers to paint a rosier picture. Pay-out schedules have been altered and cost allocations juggled to further obscure the true extent of Bonneville subsidy.

After having operated for a quarter century on a 50-year project pay-out basis, Bonneville has now changed the rules and spread out its repayments indefinitely. It has adopted a "new pay-out policy" to reduce its annual obligations and thus reduce its annual deficits, somewhat like an individual asking creditors to wait so he can feel more prosperous now.

"An inevitable result . . . is that we will pay more interest in the long run," the Bonneville report admits.

Lacking this and other book alterations from the previous year, Bonneville's deficit in fiscal 1963 would have been in the neighborhood of $17,000,000!

Idaho Fish-Game Personnel Journey Around State Giving Gun Instruction

By MARSHALL EDSON
Idaho fish-game department
BOISE, March 7—Long winter months may bring fishing and hunting almost to a standstill, but dedicated sportsmen and Idaho fish and game department personnel are on the go around the state teaching gun safety to thousands of Idaho youngsters.

From this modest beginning, the roster of certified instructors has grown to almost 500, who give freely of their time and talent to make Idaho a safer place to go hunting and to use firearms.

One statistic out of all the reports is important to the reasoning behind this teaching effort. The greatest number of "accidents" involves young people. Proper and early training does reduce such occurrences.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT

Pete Lane Termed Fair Weather Skier In Area Where Experts Are Numerous

SUN VALLEY, March 7—He could be termed a "fair weather" skier in an area where experts abound.

That's Pete Lane, local businessman, sportsman and fixer in this resort town, which yearly attracts people from around the world.

In fact, if Sun Valley had never materialized, Lane would have ended up as a sheepman. Jack Lane, his father, was a sheepman and a merchant and young Lane's first to admit that following the dusty trail would have been his lot.

Very few people know Lane's real name and he is the last to volunteer that information. But, old friends declare that when just a youngster he was known as "Little Pedro," so you can draw your own conclusions.

He was born in the Wood River valley and received his early education here. He became interested in merchandising long before Sun Valley opened. He worked in his father's store in Ketchum.

The senior Lane was one of the important sheep raisers in Idaho and his store was a "hang-out" for sheepmen from over the state.

When Sun Valley was being constructed in 1930, Lane's store in Ketchum became headquarters for the builders and it was only natural that construction of the Challenger Inn saw Jack Lane offered the opportunity to take over the sport shop.

About this time, the junior Lane was attending UCLA, followed by a course at the Harvard business school. After a stint in the army in Germany, he returned to the valley and took over the sports shop at the resort—first in the summers, when his father was busy with the sheep, and finally on a year-around basis.

From this long association with things of a business nature at the resort, he picked up skiing.

"But only as a fair weather guy," he hastens to add. He has served as a timer on the Sun Valley race committee and friends point out that no blizzard is bad enough or zero cold numb enough to keep him from a race.

So famous is the race committee of which he is a part that it was asked to run the preview for the Olympics in Squaw Valley in 1959 and then to serve as the hand-timing squad at the 1960 Olympics.

Much of the hospitality that is famous in Sun Valley centers around the Lane home on the Box L Ranch, beside highway 93 east of Ketchum. Here, the store owner and his attractive wife prove to be one of the most popular couples in the valley.

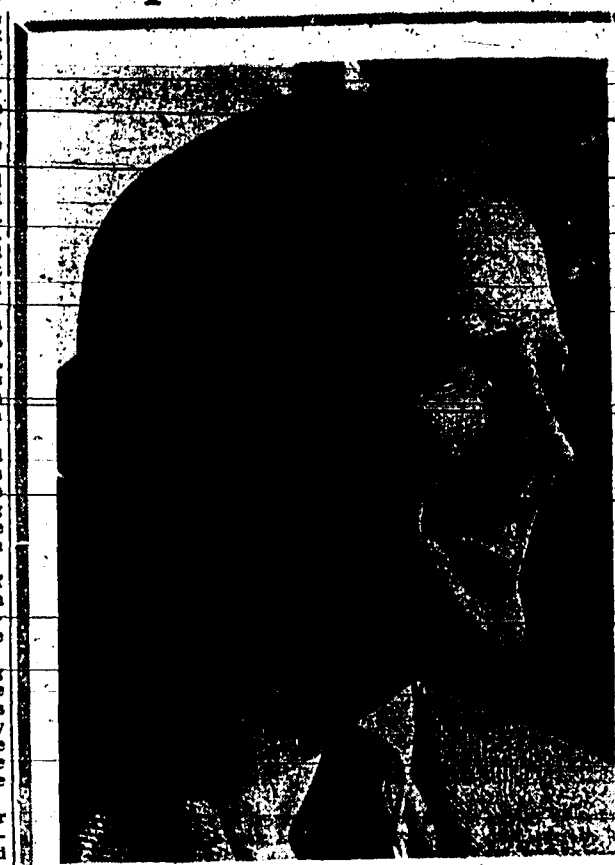

As Jeanne Rodger of Chicago, came to visit in the Wood River area and through mutual friends she and Lane met.

"I just couldn't let her go back to that big, windy city," Lane laughs, "so I talked her into getting married and settling in this wonderful section of Idaho."

The Lanes have three children. Susan is a grade school student at nearby Ketchum, while their college-age son is a student at Williams college in Massachusetts. Patricia is attending a boarding school at Claremont, Calif.

As far as community activities are concerned, Lane is connected with practically all in one way or another.

The Sun Valley area is actually a village with a mayor, council, fire department, policemen and everything else that goes with a small town.

PETE LANE

The government also maintains a postoffice there because of the heavy volume of mail originating and destined for there.

Sportswise, he is active as a member of the board of governors of the Sun Valley Ski club and his hobby is starting youngsters in the sport of skiing.

Hundreds of pairs of discarded but still usable skis have gone from the Lane store to such groups as Boy Scout troops, where they have been put to good use.

As a merchant, he is ready to try new ideas in the hopes they may prove profitable.

For instance, on a buying trip to Europe in 1953 he was introduced to the now famous "stretch" ski pants. He placed an order for them and as a result Sun Valley was the first to introduce the new idea in the United States.

Today, only 10 years later, practically no skier ventures out on the slopes without stretch pants.

Test of any business is its acceptance. Most of the employees of Sun Valley—the ski instructors, patrol members and others—join outsiders in making their purchases at Lane's. Sun Valley patrons and employees have long been noted for setting the ski dress pattern in the country.

Many of the "ideas" advanced by the manufacturers are first tried out with the Lane store as an outlet. If it catches on, then it is in, but if not it is discarded.

In addition to sports clothing, Lane also maintains a ski repair shop and a completely stocked ski equipment store.

His staff consists of 12 salesmen and women.

Another idea which Lane introduced to Sun Valley was the rental equipment idea. This, too, caught on and rental volume is high.

"It is peculiar how things turn out," Lane said recently. "As a youngster I just took it for granted that I would be a sheepman, but here I end up as a merchant."

"Actually, though, it is thrilling. I really am a part of the history of this wonderful Wood River valley. You will remember that the first prosperity for the valley came as a result of the establishment of the mines."

"When the mines started to go then the sheep industry came along and kept things on an even keel. Now it is this great resort their friends as their guests at mealtimes.

The nursing home is equipped to handle nearly any ailment with which a patient may be afflicted. The latest procedure for stroke patients and speech therapy are practiced. Patients who require nursing care for a long period of time may be cared for at the nursing home much more economically than in a hospital or clinic.

The patient is better cared for and in most instances much happier at the home than in a family residence, Benkula says.

The men are not forgotten and a barber is available for their needs.

Nursing homes are not "houses of neglect and abuse" that they were a few decades ago, and surprisingly most state regulations have been put in effect within the past 10 years.

The homes of today are pleasant, modern establishments manned with skilled, licensed employees who are greatly interested in the care of the ailing or the aged patient.

The Mountain View nursing home is under the strict jurisdiction of the state board of health and qualifies highly under health and sanitation requirements and meets inspection at all times, Benkula says.

Plans are being made for a Gray Lady service at the home. The Gray Ladies will write letters, read or do whatever they can to make the patients happy.

Benkula is a longtime valley resident, having attended the Murtough schools. He received his nursing training at Mountain View Memorial hospital and worked at the hospital for a while after receiving his license. He established the Valley Nursing home in Twin Falls five years ago and operates this establishment with the Mountain View home.

Benkula studied for six months at the hospital to qualify as a surgical scrub nurse. He enjoys this work and after he had completed his required time he trained under Dr. Fred T. Kouch for one year.

For the past three years he has worked in the operating room with Dr. Kouch and has performed many major and lesser surgeries. Benkula remarks that he "guessed it was a sort of a hobby with him."

For people who can't stand the sight of a Volkswagen.

Some people just can't see a VW. Even though they admire its attributes, they picture themselves in something fancier.

They take the time to hand-weld, hand-shape, and hand-smooth the body. Finally, after 185 men have had a hand in it, the Ghia's body is lowered onto one of those strictly functional chassis. The kind that comes with VW's big 15-inch wheels, torsion bars, a 4-speed synchromesh transmission and that rather famous air-cooled engine.

He didn't design it for mass production, so they wouldn't think of giving it the mass production treatment.

So that along with its Roman nose and graceful curves, the Ghia has a beauty that is more than skin deep.

DESPITE SNOWSTORM the annual Mighty Mite Ski races were held last week-end at Soldier mountain and trophies were awarded to the winning boys. Lure of Soldier Mountain Ski Area Is Geared to Satisfy Family Play FAIRFIELD, March 7—Generally, the coming of winter on Camas prairie signals the departure of the deer and elk hunters from soldier mountain. Lately, the coming of winter has signaled the arrival of another breed of sportsmen—the skiers.

Several ski areas have been developing in southern Idaho in the past five years. Skiing is becoming increasingly popular and the demand for a good place to ski without long waiting lines is increasing. To meet this demand, several southern Idaho citizens and groups decided to take advantage of the slope, snow and accessibility of Soldier mountain.

Each ski area should have its own attraction, and the attraction of Soldier mountain area is family skiing.

According to James Varin, who runs the ski school at Soldier mountain, the area is ideal to promote the family skiing idea.

The beginner slopes are gentle and uncrowded. There is plenty of room for expansion. The intermediate and more advanced slopes are set apart, yet still visible from the main lodge window.

Should mother decide to come up and watch, she can sit comfortably in the lodge and watch the entire family, from the smallest beginner to the more advanced, without leaving the lodge. However, the lure of slope is often too tempting and chances are she'll be out trying her hand at skiing.

Rentals are inexpensive. A person can get into a set of skis for about the same price it would cost to bowl for the afternoon.

If you're a student skier at Soldier they'll give you two "F's" if you pass the course. One "F" is for family and the other "F" is for friendly.

The real booming expert on skis is a rarity at the area. There are plenty of other areas to take care of this type of skier.

Some mountains lure climbers and the others lure picknickers. Each person seeks his own recreation.

An area like Soldier mountain, then, has to be promoted by word of mouth—the satisfied customer or as they put it at Soldier, "the satisfied family."

Last week-end the first "Annual Mighty Mite" races were held on Soldier mountain. The race is co-sponsored with another ski area—Rotarun, near Halley. Each year the race will alternate sites. Next year's race will be held at Halley.

Sherry Burrill, Halley, and James Irvin, Ketchum, won the class A section in boys' and girls' competition.

Cathy Conley, Ketchum, and

ENJOYING A BIG mouthful of spaghetti is Dave Gormley, Fairfield, Gormley, after a long day on the ski slopes of Soldier mountain, put in some time in the lodge kitchen to help prepare a spaghetti dinner for area skiers. After the last person went through the line, Gormley collected his day's wages in spaghetti. (Times-News photo)

Greg Cisco, Halley, won the class B section, and Sarah Richard, Halley, and Philip Steima, Halley, won the class C section. Races of this type do not interfere with regular recreational skiing. There is plenty of room on the mountain.

Varin, in his instruction, stressed safety in skiing rather than a lot of technique. Here again the accent is on family type recreation.

Ski patrol members are volunteers. Even with volunteers there are expenses. Again, this is solved by family type recreation and fund raising projects, like the one held last week-end.

A spaghetti buffet dinner was served in the lodge at the conclusion of the day's skiing. The proceeds from the dinner were used to defray some of the expenses incurred by the ski patrol. And the dinner was geared to the family theme. The lodge was jammed with youngsters, skiers and people who just drove up for the meal.

After the meal and a short movie, members of the patrol and other area skiers held a torchlight parade. The skiers formed on the top of the mountain and, holding torches, skied down in a figure eight pattern to the lodge.

It was the patrol's way of saying thanks for the support given the dinner and the dinner was the skiers' way of saying thanks for the area.

The area is fairly accessible. It is 10 miles north of Fairfield over level roads. In addition to a lodge where the skier can warm himself, there is a ski shop operated by James Olson, where equipment can be purchased or rented.

Toilet facilities are adequate and towels are sufficient.

A rope tow handles the youngsters and a "J" bar takes the more proficient skiers to the middle or top of the mountain.

If mom and dad want to spend the afternoon in the snow, the drive to Fairfield is worth it. There are no "welcome" signs out. Welcome is expressed in other ways.

4 Reservists Place High in Rifle Match

Four Magic Valley army reservists who participated in recent X army corps rifle matches at Ft. Lewis, Wash., placed high enough to be selected for further competition in the Sixth army rifle matches later this spring at San Francisco.

They are Maj. M. J. Bays, Jr., 482 Taylor street, and Cpl. Joseph A. Malberg, 608 Madison street, both Twin Falls; Sgt. Rex L. O'Neil, Fairfield, and Sgt. Richard A. Parmeter, Rupert.

Major Bays also was selected as first overall sharpshooter. Corporal Malberg was chosen as first overall master and Sergeant O'Neil was winner of the rapid-fire portion of the matches.

Maj. Harlan M. Meyer, local army reserve unit adviser, said Wednesday, "The unusually high placings reflect very favorably on the individuals, the unit and the state of Idaho."

Capt. Boyd L. Hulse, Hazelton; Sgt. Larry B. Plott, 439 Rose street, and Major Bays also will represent the local army reserve unit at the corps pistol matches March 12-16 at Ft. Lewis.

Capt. Billy D. Jacobsen, 1224 Alder drive, also will participate in the matches—designed to select the most highly qualified shooters to represent the corps at the army pistol matches later in San Francisco.

Major Bays has participated in previous Sixth army pistol matches and Sergeant Plott has competed in national matches at Camp Perry, O., as well as the army matches.
